Associated Press Telegram

HAVAS' AGENCY

Lisbon, 1st.

Rome, 1st.

In the Deputies yesterday Government announced that Bills for electoral reform and abolition of Grist Tax would be presented.

Berlin, 2nd.

Deputies have just sent to a special Committee Bismarck's Bill giving the Government full discretion in applying the laws against the Clergy. The Liberals oppose, and call for the stern application of the laws. The German Catholic Press is very apprehensive lest the Bill should pass, as Catholics will be at the mercy of Prince Bismarck. The Vatican is also uneasy about the future.

THE SITUATION.

In complimenting President Avellaneda and Governor Tejedor on their admirable ability in producing a situation which even the small boys in the street consider advantageous, we must remind our readers that few public men in any other country could do the same. To hold a ball of fire in your hand without being burnt—to drive the ship of state on the rocks without shipwreck, are no ordinary feats—and yet it breathes sarcasm to congratulate public men on the misfortunes of their country and their admitted ability to frighten the lives out of us all.

Day follows day, and night follows night, with such a succession of 'novedades,' that to keep pace with events we must march in seven-league boots. Where is all this to stop? Where the wayside inn, where toil shall cease and rest begin? Aye, there is the rub. Yesterday it was the Boca—that focus of engineering schemes, canalization and new docks. To-day it is Zarate—sweet, smiling village, parent of so many blissful hours to those who have galloped over its camps and danced on its glassy Parana waters, facing the old Palmas. To-morrow! But who shall tell to-morrow in this ever-changing land? We want a Cassandra, with dishevelled hair, to wander round Liberty's pyramid in the Plaza Victoria, and tell the Trojans of Buenos Ayres, the Priam of this city, the calamities in store for us, and the fate that awaits the finest city, province and state in the whole of poor South America.

It was in the middle of Madame Durand's benefit, when 2700 of the elite of this city hung on her accents, that another hulla-baloo was raised in the town, and the sharp grating rumble of the artillery passing through our streets made even the gals in the dress circle start. 'Intelice! e tu credevi?' Oh! hapless coincidence that brings such words so apropos to our mouths at the moment. And when the baritone came to the foot-lights to sing that soul-entrancing solo 'Viene Meco,' there were others heading out for the Chacarita with Krupp steel guns, singing to far different music the same song.

At daybreak yesterday morning the early risers of Flores might have heard the shrill 'clarines' of the cavalry; the horn of the trooper was heard on the hill, and we wanted no bulletins in the 'Village of the Plain' to tell us that during the night some fresh change had occurred. The withdrawal of the National troops and artillery from this city in the dead of night, with President Avellaneda at their head, is another of those masterly strokes that at first sight seem perfectly unintelligible, but at second sight come out in all their true colour—the greatest political stroke made yet.

Agamemnon himself could not have hit upon a better plan to avoid strife, escape bloodshed, and bring people back to common sense; and if, as the news runs now, the whole National Government will move up to Zarate, one of the most picturesque of all our country towns, let us hope that the first edifice to be erected in that new capital will be a temple to Minerva.

The landing of three or four thousand more Remingtons at the foot of Sarmiento Avenue, in the delightful Palermo Park, has lost its significance in the presence of such events as the removal of the National authorities from Buenos Ayres.

To write on these topics—to speak the truth—to print plain, common sense, and define the real state of affairs—would be to hold up a mirror which few of us would care to look into. We must accept events as they come. The current is flowing very rapidly. The sands of our political hour-glass are passing to eternity with a speed that mocks judgment and intensifies the errors that achieve our ruin.

Clytemnestra herself would sorrow over our blunders and errors, and the horses that dragged our artillery out of town last night and brought up the 30 carts of Remingtons from the Boca, must have wept in their harness, if the theory of Aristophenus be worth a rushlight.

There is nothing to be said about the present melancholy situation that will lessen its bitterness or improve its tone: yet one solitary remark we have to offer, and that is, that it is rare to find a country so blessed by Heaven with everything, so rich in all that Nature can endow, and yet so miserably poor in public men; and, we blush to ask—Is there no man in the Plate with a forehead to save its fortunes?

To add to history we subjoin the following:—

Buenos Ayres, June 2nd

To the Hon. Legislative Chambers

The Executive of the Province considers it a strict duty to inform you of its present relations with the National Government in consequence of acts which may in some way affect the sentiment of nationality, as, whatever may occur, the Executive is anxious to obtain your approbation.

Your Honours, like everyone else, are well aware that the National Government, while allowing all the provinces that sympathise with its election views to fully supply themselves with arms, does all in its power to prevent Buenos Ayres obtaining any, even what is necessary to preserve order.

The Government need not repeat what the Governor said in his Message as to its right to get arms, or that its request, made 3 months ago, to have 2,000 muskets despatched, was met with silence, and the arms were embargoed in the Custom House. It is plain that the National Government refused to recognise, or even discuss, a right which the Constitution accords the Province.

Strong in its right, the Provincial Government resolved at any cost to use same, and its first attempt has been crowned with success, a large quantity of arms having been introduced to-day at the Riachuelo, in spite of the resistance of the Capitania.

In the opinion of the Provincial Executive the responsibility of this affair rests with the National Government, for its unjust resistance and unprecedented bad faith, but the Government wishes to have your opinion on the subject, which is the object of this communication.

These are solemn moments.

We are threatened with decomposition and anarchy, and all must lend their aid to save the country, the People with their arm, the Executive with its will, and Your Honorable House with its advice.

C. TEJEDOR.
Santiago Alcorta.

Minute Sanctioned by the Deputies

Buenos Ayres, June 2nd.

To the Executive,

The Legislature of Buenos Ayres has considered Y. E's. Message in reference to the events which preceded the landing of the arms which, in compliance with one of its Laws, Y.E. has procured, for the use of the Provincial forces.

The Chambers hasten to inform Y.E. that they fully approve of your proceedings, and are ready to support you in everything tending to defend the liberty and rights conferred by the National Constitution, which liberty and rights have been attacked through a series of acts, by the National Government, hostile to this province.

God preserve you.

ENGLISH LITERARY SOCIETY.

DEBATE ON THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

More than sixty members and visitors attended to hear Mr. Barclay's paper on Bi-metallism.

The President, Mr. Jordan, on introducing Mr. Barclay, said he looked on the subject before the Society that evening as one of great and rapidly increasing importance, and congratulated the Society on Mr. Barclay's having kindly acceded to the invitation of the Committee to address them.

M. Barclay then read an able and elaborate paper which we trust soon to see published in full; and at the close moved the following resolution:

"That the general adoption of Bimetallism is desirable and practicable."

Mr. Runciman seconded the resolution, dwelling chiefly on its desirability.

Mr. Hutchison opposed the resolution on the ground of its being impracticable and retrograde.

Mr. Carroll, having been called upon by the Chairman, as one of those opposed to the resolution, said, that he could not coincide with the conclusions arrived at, and consequently, if pressed to a division, must vote against the resolution proposed. He added that it was scarcely just to those opposed to the views of the Essayist to be called upon, at a moment's notice, to combat the arguments made use of, in a lengthy essay, framed with care and deliberation, and in the preparation of which no doubt the 'midnight oil' had been freely burned. If however the same course could be adopted here that is practised in another and more 'august assembly,' that of giving a second reading to the Essay 'this day month,' many would then be found ready with abundant arguments in opposition to those of Mr. Barclay. Nevertheless the subject is one upon which most thinking men, and especially those engaged in commerce, have formed some opinion, and consequently he had no doubt that a large majority of those present would unhesitatingly negative the Resolution proposed by the Essayist. Amongst the reasons which must at once occur to any one's mind are the following: That silver, as at present, fulfils its proper function as an aid in the monetary transactions of the world, and consequently that it is unnecessary to attempt to give it a fixed value, that the proposed system of Bi-metallism is impracticable because unlikely to become universal, without which it would inevitably become an injustice to those adopting it, that to non-producing countries it would be holding out a premium to the silver producing countries to fix an absolute value for their production. As well might we pretend to fix an absolute price per yard of white or grey cotton, or the raw cotton itself, an article just as necessary, if not more than silver. No doubt the commerce of the United Kingdom with India is at times seriously disturbed, and an additional element of risk added to it, by the occasional fluctuations in the rate of exchange, but this would not be remedied by fixing the value of silver, or making that coin a legal medium. Other reasons were given by the same speaker which we do not pretend to give in this hurried resumè.

Mr Jordan supported Mr Barclay's motion, arguing that for a universal circulation the growth of a bi metallic currency is steadier and therefore fairer than a mono-metallic. The withdrawal of silver would be an unnatural check on the increase of coin which the growth of wealth and commerce requires. As regards England, we ought to accept one pound of standard silver for £3 2s sterling, or one pound of standard gold for £46 14s 6d, as long as the National Debt remains unpaid. Seeing that the debt of 850 millions sterling, borrowed before 1816, was received under that double standard, we have no right to any other.

Dr Hiron opposed the resolution in an argumentative and effective speech which our reporter missed.

Mr Mackinlay supported the resolution, saying that he was unable to see any sufficient grounds for objecting to the Double standard; the arguments brought forward seemed to him all in its favor.

Mr Carlisle said in opposition—Like Mr Carroll I came to this meeting to listen and being totally unprepared with figures had no intention of speaking. There is, however, one remark which Mr Barclay made, which I think cannot be borne out and by facts and which is deserving of attention. Mr Barclay states it to be his opinion that the late depression of trade was caused chiefly by the depreciation in silver. Now it is somewhat curious that the Eastern markets, where silver is the only currency, have taken a much greater quantity of goods during the past five years than in the five years previous, shipments to India shewing an average total of 120 million yards of plain cotton per month, against a previous average of about 90 millions. I agree with Dr Hiron that it is a mistake by artificial legislation to interfere with the laws of supply and demand. I believe the reason of the diminution in the production of silver has been caused by the low price to which the article has fallen, and that if a fictitious value is put on it, as proposed by the bi-metallists, you will ere long have such an increased production as for a time being to lead to the bulk of debts being paid in more weighty and unmanageable coin than gold, and the result must be a renewed depreciation of the more bulky and superfluous article. I must unhesitatingly side with Mr Carroll in his opposition to Mr Barclay's motion.

Mr Urban Smith objected to the motion, on the ground that one metal was sufficient to represent a standard in the barter of commerce of one article for another—that gold was the most convenient as being the least variable in supply—and that the introduction of another basis or standard, as silver, which could only be looked upon as an article of barter of fluctuating relative value to other articles, would only add another factor of fluctuation in the relative values of the articles to be exchanged.

Mr Ramsay also opposed the motion. He said—We are all agreed that in theory a standard of value is desirable. The lecturer accordingly states, that if an absolute standard is sought for, it will most probably be found by establishing the bi-metallic system, as we would discover the real standard by averaging the fluctuations in value of the two metals which would constitute the dual system of coinage. If this is the case, it necessarily follows, that the more facts we have available for the purpose of calculating our averages on, the nearer we will approach to a perfect standard, and we should therefore establish the greatest variety possible of metals as currency, say, besides gold and silver, copper, lead, tin &c. I am sure however that experience would soon prove the fallacy of this method of procedure, and that it is in unity alone that we must seek for the absolute, as well in the standard of value as in the search for any other great truth.

The speakers that have preceded me have all examined the question of bi-metallism from an English stand-point, that is to say, as to how it would affect the current of trade between England and India. The question, however, is one of general importance to commerce at large and should not be looked at from such a narrow point of view. For the sake of example, I will, however, take the liberty also of localizing the question, and examine it as to its effect on the international trade of the country we live in, and in which I believe bi-metallism has been established by law, although not yet carried into effect.

We will suppose that the two metals have been fairly started, in what the lecturer considers their useful career, and that from some economic cause, the value of our exports has declined so much as to lower exchange to such a rate as to make the export of specie necessary, it would then follow that that metal would be exported which was most valuable in proportion abroad, and we would be left with a depreciated currency, one of the greatest calamities a country can be cursed with, be that depreciated currency either metallic or paper.

The lecturer lays great stress on the fact that Germany demonetized her silver six years ago and has since suffered great commercial calamity, but surely this is but a short period to judge of the result of a great measure such as this. The last six years have been characterized by a general depression of trade throughout the world, and it is manifestly unfair to lay the blame for Germany's share of that depression on the demonetization of her silver.

In conclusion, gentlemen, I trust that you will all agree with me, that as gold has hitherto been recognized by the majority of the civilized world as the best standard of value and has proved itself to be so, we should continue so to consider it.

Mr. Barclay replied to the various speeches.

The resolution was then put; and the voting resulted in 10 for and 17 against, many of the members who live out of town having left before the discussion closed.

A cordial vote of thanks was then unanimously given to Mr. Barclay for his able and interesting paper and the discussion to which it had given rise.

AGRICULTURAL TRAVELS.

If ever a man was born to write a book on agriculture, it is certainly the author of the important work lying on our table. Born and reared among rural scenes, far from the bustle of large cities, Mr Olivera in 1853 made his first voyage to Europe, where his energy and perseverance made him a most distinguished scholar in the Grignon model-farming school.

On his return to Buenos Ayres he turned to account his many agronomic studies on the lands of his family. He understood at once the great advantages to the Argentine Republic in adopting the new methods of agriculture on a soil so fertile and especially adapted to the purpose. In 1866, with Mr Martinez de Hoz, he founded the Sociedad Rural Argentina, of which he is still honorary President, although the Argentine Government since several years has entrusted him with the important post of Postmaster General. Whatever may be said of his talents as an administrator, the author and agronome says nothing about, and in a special edition Mr Olivera to-day describes with the greatest accuracy the agricultural condition of Germany, France, Switzerland, Italy, Belgium and Holland—his work is a large harvest of valuable comparisons and examples.

This book is of the greatest utility in a moment when the Argentine Republic is emerging from an economical crisis and the black points in the political horizon have disappeared, thus opening new fields to enterprise and agriculture. Not long ago the magnificent territories of the Republic seemed doomed for ever to the pastoral industries, but to-day affairs have changed and new ideas have risen. Nobody for a moment doubts that the plains of the Pampa are destined to become the largest granary of the world. The export of cereals already has surpassed all expectations.

The author, in the preface, makes some observations to the point on the public wealth and equilibrium of existing powers in population. Thus Belgium, on a very limited territory and densely-populated, has known how to increase its wealth so much. In England industries have increased the producing power of man six thousand times, flooding all foreign markets with its products. The German, as the author well says, whilst fostering all branches of commerce and industry, delights in rural pursuits. In France agriculture sways the land, and is the principal motor of its prosperity. Italy, in spite of its Latin origin, obeys the same impulses; and all the civic virtues and grandeur in the United States are merged in the agricultural classes.

Those who founded the Argentine nation did not ignore these principles, and Belgrano said that the wealth of nations was not to be calculated according to gold, but according to the number of acres under agriculture. Rivadavia fostered all rural pursuits. Mr. Olivera thus, in his valuable work, recalls the principles of the greatest Argentines, and the actual President of the Republic, Dr. Avellaneda, deserves the highest credit for the unceasing efforts of his Government in the cause of agriculture. The spontaneous immigration into the Republic has already given rise to many national industries, which have driven the European articles out of the country.

The foregoing views specially recommend Mr. Olivera's work. The book has a double charm; besides the agronomical views and studies, the readers peruse an interesting book of travels, full of historical notes and picturesque descriptions of the many countries the author has passed through.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday the political excitement was greater than ever. Long before daylight people were devouring the newspapers in bed, to see what had passed during the night, and the following is a summary of it. At 10 o'clock on Wednesday night all the troops of the Line and the Artillery evacuated the city, President Avellaneda at their head. H.E. remained in the camp, and summoned the Cabinet Ministers to his side yesterday morning. While the troops were marching to the Chacarita 3000 more Krausse rifles, for the Provincial Government, were landed at Palermo and safely brought to town so secretly that even the Tiros knew nothing of it till they saw it in the bulletins. Congress Senate was in secret session, considering, it is said, a message from the President asking authority to call out the National Guard all over the Republic. It was also said that the National troops in Rosario and on the South frontier have received orders to come to Buenos Ayres. There was a meeting of Roquistas at the Variedades Theatre on Wednesday night, but it broke up without doing anything definite. Messrs. Frias and Sarmiento, it is reported, were summoned to the National Government House early in the evening, but refused to go. The rumour of the resignation of Drs Pellegrini and Goyena was not confirmed. Another report was that Congress will be dissolved, or dissolve itself, or go up to Zarate. Troops are also said to be ordered down from Entre Rios, and the new troop ship Villarino had steam up all night, ready to sail at any moment. The latest novelty was a telegram from General Roca stating that recent events have modified his intentions, and his engagement with the Bolsa Delegation is to be considered at an end. Many people considered it apocryphal. Several Voluntger Tiro and Bombero companies now do duty at the Police Commissaries, as the policemen are all quartered in the Policia. An almacenero near the Provincial Government House rolled a hogshead of wine into the street and tapped it for the Provincial Guards when they returned from the Boca with the arms. 'En fin', we would require three columns to give all the 'on dits', 'canards' and talk flying about. In the midst of the din and row the tax-payers are all getting as thin as whipping posts, and their countenances are 'sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought,' as they piteously ask 'who is to pay the piper?' Their prophetic souls answer—'Our noble selves.'

The ceremonies at the Irish Convent to-day, in connection with the installation of the Sisters of the Sacred Heart, commence at 9½ o'clock. The Ven. Dean Dillon sings High Mass.

The Montevidean steamer yesterday morning brought up somewhat stiffish news. All the talk about Colonel Latorre having gone to Europe is nonsense: The ex-President is at Yaguaron, recruiting 'patriots' to again regenerate his 'ungovernable' countrymen. That other patriot, Caraballo, has been liberated by the Brazilians, and is now in Entre Rios, ready for another raid on his beloved country. The olive crop in Paysandu has failed, and a great rise in pea-nut oil is immediately expected. Mr. Jones, the popular manager of the Anglo-Brazilian Bank at Montevideo, will shortly leave for Europe.

The news from Brazil is that His Majesty the Emperor has started on his trip to Parana, and all along the route the popular monarch was received by the people with unbounded enthusiasm. The Brazilians are almost as fond of their Emperor as the British are of their model Queen.

Telegrams from the Canary Islands report that a British steamer, name not given, has been wrecked on the sands there. The passengers, crew and mails were saved, and it is hoped to save some of the cargo, but the vessel is done for.

We perceive that our good friend Captain O'Morse, so well and favorably known as commander of the Villa del Salto, has now taken command of the splendid new steamer Pingo.

Dame Fortune has at last cast a smile on the Editorial Bus. The editor of the Aurora in this city pulled off 10,000 pats. in the last Corrientes Lottery.

The arrival is announced of Signor Carlo Moro, from Italy, who comes on the part of an Italian company which is about to ask a large concession of land, to start vine growing on a large scale in this country, we believe in this province. Mr Moro says that this is the pet country with Italian emigrants, and that there are hundreds of thonsands of his countrymen determined to come here. This is right good news. We defy the politicians to ruin this country, let them try never so hard.

The following are the wine revelations referred to in yesterday's issue, and which an ardent disciple of the good Father Mathew requests us to publish:—

"A letter has recently been published by a wine merchant, denouncing the system of doctoring wines and spirits. It gave particulars of various essences for manipulating inferior and adulterated compounds, to be known afterwards as wines, spirits, or liqueurs. 'Essences' of brandy or gin are thus concocted to produce 'the original fulness of flavour and briskness of reduced gin,' and in particular the essence will 'impart the port wine bouquet' to other red wines. Then there are essences of vanilla and Irish brandy, cherry brandy—for making the true Morilla cherry brandy—cream, for 'producing a head of creamy richness to all kinds of ale or beer.' German potatoe spirit thus doctored can be transformed into the richest cognac, or may be made into Irish whiskey, with the 'sherry wine and oakwood combination.' The audacity of this advertisement is enough to loosen one's teeth or make a person stammer for life.

There was a slight breeze in Congress Hall on Wednesday owing to the Deputies claiming to be admitted to the secret session of the Senate. The Upper House refused peremptorily, and the Deputies withdrew, promising 'tit for tat' the next time the Senators showed any inclination to attend the debates, secret or not, in the Lower Chamber.

An Englishman tried to jump the life to come on Monday night at the Boca by disposing himself to sleep on the railway line as a train was approaching, but the engine driver saw him and pulled up in time. The poor fellow declared that want of work and food made him try the rash act. We regret to hear that there are thousands in this poor Englishman's case in this city at present—all owing to the state of things our so-called patriots and politicians have brought about.

The political excitement is so great that every other topic seems forgotten. There is one subject, however, which we hope will not be allowed to sleep, and that is the subscription initiated by several of our first citizens to succour the mother and sisters of the young Cordoba priest, Father Perez, who was treacherously murdered in our Plaza. All classes were dreadfully shocked by this crime, and feel that any reparation in their power is due to the murdered man's sorrowing family. Even in the midst of our political troubles it is to be hoped that the rich and charitable people of Buenos Ayres will not forget the doubly bereaved widowed mother and her daughters.

There was a great muster of Tiros and Bomberos at the Provincial Government House on Wednesday morning: each man chose a rifle from amongst those landed at the Boca: They are splendid weapons, mostly Chassepots, a much heavier arm than the handy Remington.

A shocking murder was committed in Calle Uruguay on Wednesday night, the victim being a woman of bad character, who was found yesterday morning dead, with her throat cut, and there is no trace whatever of the assassin.

The National Chamber of Deputies met yesterday, but, as the Roquista members did not attend, there was no quorum. Deputy Montes de Oca proposed that their absent brethren should be brought to the House by force. Deputy Mantilla seconded this, and suggested that the aid of the police should be obtained for the purpose. Deputy Francisco Elizalde deprecated a resort to violence, and proposed, as an amendment, that a polite 'note should be sent to the absent members, requesting the pleasure of their company at debate, at 4 o'clock sharp. This 'suaviter' proposal was adopted, and the House adjourned to the 'ante-salas,' to await replies to its invitation.

News was received yesterday that the Santa Rosa steamer, which was supposed to have foundered at sea, has safely entered the port of Santa Cruz. She broke her screw.

Viva! The Lamport and Holt steamer Maskelyne has brought out the machinery for the new Mint, and also four English workmen to put it up. By the way, we hear that this magnificent steamer is now lighted with gas, an advantage not to be enjoyed on any other line, except the White Star.

The Nacional says that President Avellaneda rose before daylight yesterday from his camp bed at the Chacarita, and went round the encampment. H. E. is staying at the quarters of the 1st Cavalry of the Line.

The Policia is now the Head Quarters of the Provincial forces, and the military stir and bustle all day and all night forms a striking contrast to the magisterial quiet which used to prevail there.

The Pope's bull appointing Padre Esquiu Bishop of Cordoba has reached the National Government and will shortly be published.

A DETRACTOR

Of all murderers, the detractor and slanderer of private character is the most unprincipled and heartless. The highwayman meets his foe face to face—they stand within arm's-length of each other, to terminate the contest; but the slanderer ever seeks an hour when his neighbour (or perhaps his friend) is absent to hold him up to ridicule and scorn. Beware of the one who makes a pastime of ridiculing the conversations in which he has joined, and the company amid which he has lingered; for so sure as he leaves your sight, your own words may be given as a theme for the entertainment of others. A detractor is a monster devoid of a particle of feeling; for he cares not how his unjust sarcasm may injure his acquaintance, so that he satifies his own satirical temper and raises a laugh among his idle companions, who are true types of himself. He cannot be altered by advice, he cannot be won by kindness; for, like the wily serpent, the nearer you approach him the greater danger you are in of receiving the venom of his sting. He is a degraded being on earth, and from him we should learn a useful lesson—that if we cannot speak well of our absent neighbour, to remain for ever silent.

THE POOR SOUTH.

San Jose de Otamendi, Chocori,
May 27th, 1880.

To the Editor of the Standard,

Sir,

I have taken a liberty, viz., of giving you a little mem., if it is worth anything. You know camp news is always acceptable in town.

I am in the Balcarce district. I came out last year, in May, and have lost my all, that is in a business point. Out of 5,600 sheep only 160 were left; all my horses and cattle died; my little boy had his thigh broken, and an innumerable lot of casualties. But, as the song says, 'There is a sweet little cherub that sits up aloft'—perhaps you remember the rest. The camps are in a wretched condition, something beyond description; in fact the camps are black. I came out as mayordomo, but as what was left from the 'epidemia' is sold, I am in the position of Micawber. I may state that robberies of sheep are constant; owing to so many having lost, they must steal to live. As for the Rural Police, I have not seen any as yet.

If this is worth publishing, you are at liberty to add or take from it.

Yours very truly,
Farmer.

THE OSTRICH BUSINESS

Frazerburg, Cape Colony,
March 22, 1880.

Dear Mr. Editor,

Could you kindly furnish me with information regarding the introduction of South African Ostriches in the River Plate? Do you think that they would become naturalized to the climate and if the attempts already tried have proved successful? One hundred birds left here the other day for Buenos Ayres, under the charge of Mr. Beaumont. Could you tell me the result of the undertaking? The prices of birds here are £5 directly they are out of the egg; £10 when two months old; £15 to 25 when six months old. Their first plucking occurs when eight months old, the second 14 months, and the third, which is the best, one year and eight to nine months. The value of the feathers when that age is about £12 per bird, and that is worth about £35 to £50. Birds commence to breed from three years old, and lay three or four times in the year. A good pair of breeding birds are worth from 150 up to £500, and even more. I have seen often a pair of birds yielding £300 to £450 in the year. Could you let me know as soon as possible the prices Mr. Beaumont has obtained for his birds, also your opinion on the subject? Apologizing for interrupting your valuable time.

I remain,
Yours very truly,
An Old Subscriber.

The market opened this morning with reaction. Gold has at last passed the Bank, the exchange, the ring, and the mystic figure of 31, and all who speculate on the misfortunes of the country win. Outsiders bought gold to-day, and if merchants have held back it is possibly with a view to check what for many bears the outward form of a panic. In another column will be found a repertory of all the sad political events that mark the period. Most people accept the conduct of Pres. Avellaneda in leaving the city and taking every man of the Nat. troops out of the town as patriotic in the extreme. The move has certainly taken the market by surprise, and if the only result be the removal of the capital, Porteños more than anyone else will have cause for regret.

Gold opened at 31, and rose steadily to 31.10, at which it close; the cash sales were heavy 160,828 pats, and for the end of the month tremendous, 825,000, closing at 31.15. The sales of the day amounted to 1,003,828 pats. Cedulas sympathize with the sorrows of the country and dropped to 86, and for end of the month at 85½.

The news from Montevideo is important. Another Custom House law and a great advance in duties. Impossible to make both ends meet with the present duties. The Custom House receipts for May only reached 220,154 pats.

A vessel entered to-day with gunpowder to Moore and Tudor; Port Captain, we believe, takes charge of ship and cargo.

Yesterday the fabrica for making Remington cartridges in this city was stopped, employees sent about their business and machines sent off to Zarate

Four skilled mint operatives are to arrive in a few days from Europe; we suppose they must needs go to Zarate also

Mr Jones, the talented manager of the London and Brazilian Bank in Montevideo, leaves on Saturday for Europe.

The gold sales were:—
For cash 160,828 31.05-10
For June 5th 3,000 31.—
For June 30th 825,000 31.-30.95 31.05-10 to 31.05-10-15
For June 15th 10,000 31.05
For July 31st 5,000 31.10
Sales 1,003,828

Cedulas—
For cash A 12,800 at 86
For June 30th 25,000 86-85½-¾

At afterhours, when merchants came on 'Change, the market ruled most excited; gold rose to 31.35 for the end of the month, and about 200,000 pats sold; prices then flattened and ruled at 31.30, but the market ruled most feverish, and notwithstanding $28,000 to-day and $16,000 drawn yesterday by the Provincial Bank, and the gold to pay for same brought on the Bolsa and sold, prices still rose; orders from outsiders came in very fast, and at half past four o'clock prices ruled 31.40 for end of month. The Provincial Bank continues drawing and will draw to-morrow at 40d, no matter what the price of gold on the Bolsa; the bills passed to-day at present price of gold gave an exchange of 50½ and over.

T'were vain to write all the rumours, news, bolas, &c. current on 'Change. Things never looked worse than at present, and the feeling is that both parties have pushed matters too far. It was said openly on 'Change that the only possible candidate now is Sr Sarmiento, and many people are entirely of that opinion.

In salted hides two sales reported:—
3,000 cows, Concepcion, 50 lbs., at 60 rls. in Montevideo.
2,000 ox, 52 lbs., at 50 rls.
The 8,000 hides sold at Pineyrua's saladero were done at 50½ rls. there.

Captain Bois, of s.s. Argentina, was enveloped in friends when he entered the Bolsa; he finds affairs here rather more shining than in Hamburg.

There was much said on 'Change about the removal of books etc. from some of the Nat. Ministerios, and many other things that we decline to publish. Sr Pellegrini, Minister of War, returned to-day from Chacarita.

Worse than the political situation is the state of the Boca, with a sunken lighter across the channel and nothing can pass up or down; the gigantic inconveniens of such a state of affairs may be imagined.

Mr Green, agent of Royal Mail, has received a telegram. The Elbe passengers reached Liverpool on May 1st. This makes her voyage in 22 days, spite of calling at all ports. Perhaps the quickest ever done.

The sale of 700 squares of land near Navarro on coast of Salado for 700,000 m/c, is reported. Mr Michael Rooney buyer.

The sale of 600 doz. sheepskins at 30 rls. reported, and at the Corrales yesterday as high as 1400 m/c was paid for very fat bullocks.

It appears Gen. Latorre is not going to Europe but coming back to Montevideo.

"Mr Welchman has just purchased for exportation to Buenos Aires Lord Vivian's New Market Handicap winner, Hidalgo, who is well bred as Eclipse, being by Pero Gomez out of Nightingale by West Australian out of Songstress (winner of the Oaks in 1852) by Birdcatcher out of Cyprian (winner of thy Oaks in 1836) by Partisan out of Firefly be Filho da Puta out of Agatha by Orville." This horse is for the stud farm of Mr James Lawrie, near Jeppener. We congratulate Mr Lawrie on the acquisition of a horse with so illustrious a pedigree.

The following extract from the report of the Mercantile Bank of the River Plate may interest this market:—

"In presenting to the Shareholders the Annual Report and the Statement of Accounts for the year ending 31st December last, the Directors deeply regret to have to announce the death of their colleague, Mr Julius Beer, whose untiring energy and resources were repeatedly of great value to the Bank, and whose counsel was always of the greatest advantage.

"The Directors are glad to be able to state that the compromise reported at the last meeting of the Shareholders with regard to the Montevideo Waterworks has been carried out, although not without considerable delay and difficulty. The Manager of the English Company formed by this Bank was put in possession of the Works on the 9th October last, and the income from 1st January, 1879, has been handed to him. The Statement of Profit and Loss shows a profit of £22,000 for 1879.

"The Company has been established with a Debenture Capital of £250,000, and a Share Capital of £400,000, of which £350,000 has been issued as fully paid up. The Bank received all the Debentures and the greater part of the Share Capital.

"The general condition of affairs in the R. Plate has sensibly improved during the past year; but it is impossible, as yet, to estimate the effect this will have upon the realisation of the remaining assets of the Company.

"Since the last Report, a portion of the properties has been disposed of, in some instances at an advance on the amount for which they stood in the books of the Bank, and in others at a loss. This result is another proof of the impossibility of placing a reliable value on the assets, and for that reason the Balance Sheet has been constructed on the same principle as heretofore. All ascertained losses have been written off, but no further provision has been made in respect of doubtful assets of the Bank realising the amounts at which they stand in the Company's books.

"Difficulties have been experienced by the owner of the Pando Railway in finishing the line, of which only 14 miles out of 23 are completed, and in working operation; in consequence, the interest on the Bonds has been suspended since October last. Until further advices it is impossible to say what steps will now be taken for the completion of the Railway, but the Directors have reason to hope that the Bank's position will not be materially prejudiced.

"The Directors have to announce that they accepted in October last the resignation of Mr Taylor, the Managing Director, and that by placing the management in the hands of Mr Macalaster, the Sub-Manager, they will be enabled to reduce the working expenses of the Bank for the current year to about the sum of £3,000.

"It will be remembered that the Committee of Shareholders advised that the question of the reconstruction of the Bank be delayed until further progress should have been made in the realization of the principal assets. The large claim of the Bank on the Montevideo Waterworks having now been satisfactorily arranged, and there having been a general improvement in the affairs in the River Plate, the question has been under the consideration of the Directors, and they have entered upon negotiations with a view to submit to the Shareholders a scheme for continuing the business in the River Plate. It is doubtful whether any arrangements can be matured in time to submit a scheme to this Meeting, but if not, the Shareholders will be convened at the earliest possible date, to consider the subject. It will be manifest to the Shareholders that no scheme can be carried out without the hearty co-operation of those interested in the subject, and they hope, therefore, to receive the support of all the Shareholders in their efforts in this matter.

"Messrs Cash & Stone, the Auditors, also retire, and offer themselves for re-election."

Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S
(Ex Army Medical Staff)

CHLORODYNE

IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. J Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's.—See Times, July 12th 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it at all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.
CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitations and Spasms.

Extracts from Medical Opinions.

The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport, that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any servica in Cholera was Chlorodyne. See Lancet, Dec. 31st, 1864.

From A. Montgomery, Esq. late Inspector of Hospitals, Bombay. 'Chlorodyne is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia, Asthma, and Dysentery. To it I fairly owe my restoration to health, after eighteen months' severe suffering, and when other remedies had failed.

Dr. Lowe, Medical Missionary in India, reports (December 1865) that in nearly every case of Cholera in which Dr. J. Collin Browne's Chlorodyne was administered, the patient recovered.

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera. 'So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases.

See leading article, Pharmaceutical Journal, August 1st, 1860, which states that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the inventor of Chlorodyne, that it is always right to use his preparation when Chlorodyne is ordered.

CAUTION. None genuine without the words 'Dr. J. Collis Browne' on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Copy of Analysis by Professor Kyle.

National College, Buenos Ayres, November 29th 1879.

Messrs. M. Forrester & Co., Buenos Ayres.

Gentlemen—I haveat your request made a careful examination of he sample of JEYES'S SHEEP DIP you handed to me on the 18th inst. I find it to be a well made preparation of Phenols and other Tar products, combined with soap, retaining the liquid form and easily mixible with water, from which it does not afterwards separate.

The proportion of active ingredients amounts to rather over 80 per cent. it is free from Mineral Poisons and from Caustic Alkalies. In my opinion it is well worth the attention of Sheepfarmers, and will be found by them to be convenient, safe, and I do not doubt, very efficacious as a Sheep Dip. From the readiness with which the preparation can be mixed with cold water it ought to prove most acceptable as a domestic disinfectant, being more convenient than crude Carbolic Acid or the disinfectant powders so frequently employed.

I am, Gentlemen, your obedient servant,
JOHN J. J. KYLE, Professor of Chemistry.

Extracts from Testimonials

From Mr. Alex. Stewart, Bailiff to H. D. Pochin, Esq. Roduent Hall. Wales—

"The Sheep Dip is the best that I have ever used. I have not seen a single Maggot on any of the Sheep since we used it. The wool looks beautiful, and to all appearance improved in quality. I feel satisfied it will be an invaluable boon to our large Sheepfarmers in the Colonies, and it only wants to be, appreciated."
